Cannabis — whether we like it or not

Robert Melamede from the University of Colorado explains why cannabis is and has been beneficial. So why is it prohibited?

726 FOOD & AGRICULTURE SPECIAL

From farm to fork

With consumer confidence in the British food industry at rock bottom, and the public still demanding year-round, high-quality produce, how can the industry cope? asks Claire Curran.

729 The wonder nutrient

Conjugated linoleic acid (CLA) is present in dairy products and meats, with possible beneficial health effects. John Stanley and Kirsty Hunter look at the evidence.

732 COMPUTER SECURITY

The inside job

Chemicals companies have traditionally focused security efforts on preventing outside attacks, but now it seems these breaches are just as likely to come from
