

17
*First published in 1973
by Faber and Faber Limited
3 Queen Square, London WC1
Printed in Great Britain by Western Printing Services Ltd, Bristol
All rights reserved*

ISBN 0 571 10143 7

© 1973 by J. Brian McLoughlin

Contents

Preface	page 9
1 Controlling urban change	13
In the beginning was . . . the scheme; between the wars; the post-war period; North American planning objectives; what is planning for?; the ideology of control.
2 The legal basis of development control	36
The definition of 'development'; exceptions and extensions; the lack of general principles; non-development controls; gaps in control of the environment; public development; agricultural and forestry development; pollution control; traffic control; economic implications of proposed development; conclusions.
3 Planning authorities, departments and development control	60
Local authority management structures; the structure of planning departments; the development control section; the relationship with district councils in counties; the special case of Greater London.
4 Cases and caseworkers	80
Form and content of cases; the pathway followed by a case; information input to the recommendation; information output from development control; a portrait of the caseworker; attitudes and values of caseworkers; the future.
5 Detailed physical planning and control	113
Purposes; statutory planning schemes; 'bottom-drawer' plans; the new local plans; skills and methods in

CONTENTS

detailed physical planning; design, development control and planners.

6 Strategic, comprehensive and structure planning	page 140
The 1968 Act and the 'Development Plans' manual; structure planners at work; relationships between 'plan' and development control work.
7 Policy in local government	161
What is policy?; the origin of policies; planning and policy in British local government; the need for the introduction of policy making; structure planning and corporate planning.
8 A cybernetic analysis of planning systems and urban systems	182
Complex governmental systems and cybernetics; cybernetics, systems theory and social systems; characteristics of adaptive systems; learning and evolution in social systems; ecosystems, geosystems and urban systems; planning systems, urban systems and purposive behaviour.
9 Requisite variety and intelligence systems	218
Introductory; the law of requisite variety; the search for requisite variety in planning systems; information and the cybernetic model of control; the place of information in urban-systems control; data, information and intelligence; current practice in North America and Great Britain; development control information for policy analysis; models, computers, data and information; intelligence systems and urban management.
10 Control and urban governance	248
Government, community and governance; detailed physical planning and development control; structure planning and other forms of public policy making; people for planning.
References	272
Abbreviations	280
Index	281