GAS separation & purification

Volume 8 Number 1 March 1994

GSEPEP 08 (01) 1-64

GAS SEPARATION & PURIFICATION is a quarterly international journal published in March, June, September and December, providing comprehensive coverage of all aspects of gas separation and purification, with particular emphasis on the process aspects. Contributions are welcome on large- and small-scale processes and separation and purification systems using physical and chemical methods.

The journal will also cover research aspects leading to new or improved processes and the provision of basic data needed in process design and evaluation.

Intending authors who have queries on the submission of a paper should consult the notes for contributors or contact a Regional or Advisory Editor or the Butterworth-Heinemann Staff.
